Oyster Pro-Training is a Health and Safety Executive (HSE) approved first aid training company established and run by full time tutors with professional teaching qualifications. Only the best instructors available are used to deliver courses.

Our first aid instructors are professional tutors with many years teaching experience behind them. Course delivery is professional and thorough but not without a sense of humor where appropriate.

We are confident the knowledge and experience of our instructors is invaluable in helping people gain the confidence and skills to save life and deal with emergency situations.

To provide the highest standards of training we ensure that all our trainers use the latest teaching methods that have been designed to assist the learning process and make our courses both enjoyable and informative.
